Clinical Guidance related to Repatriated Guests from Hondius Cruise Ship

Following advice from the Clinical Cell group, in order to pre-empt any possible circumstances where WUTH might need to provide care to the repatriated guests from the Hondius Cruise Ship, the Infection Prevention and Control team have set up an High Consequence Infectious Disease (HCID) page on the intranet and uploaded a suite of guidance documentation.

This guidance can be accessed in the unlikely event that a guest should need immediate and urgent care that is unrelated to Hantavirus.

Please note that the guests from Hondius are contacts who are asymptomatic and have tested negative for Hantavirus.

Please note that if any of the guests become symptomatic, they will be treated by the Infectious Diseases team at Royal Liverpool University Hospital.
