Help judge this year's Better Together Awards

As the deadline for nominations approaches, we are inviting colleagues from across WUTH and WCHC to play an important part in selecting the finalists for this year's Better Together Awards.

Getting involved in the judging is a great opportunity to discover some of the outstanding work taking place across both organisations and help recognise the individuals and teams making a difference every day.

By involving colleagues from across our organisations, we can bring a broad range of perspectives and experiences to the judging process. Alongside Trust staff, judging will involve our staff networks, governors, members, union representatives and volunteers.

There are two ways to get involved.

Phase 1: Join an Exec led judging panel

Help with the initial assessment of nominations and selection of the top entries in each category. Panels can be attended either in person or virtually, making it easy to get involved.

Phase 2: Join the open virtual shortlisting

Once the judging panels have selected their top six nominations, colleagues can get involved in the next stage through our open virtual shortlisting in early September, helping determine the final shortlist.

You can be from either WUTH or WCHC and join any of the judging panels.

To book onto a panel or register your interest in the virtual shortlisting, please email wuth.engagementandinclusion@nhs.net.

Get involved and help us recognise the incredible colleagues and teams who deserve to be celebrated at the Better Together Awards 2026.
